PEACE COVENANT FIGHT GOES BACK TO SENATE FLOOR

Conferees Fail to Settle Peace Treaty Controversy in Final Attempt.

PARLEYS COLLAPSE.

Republicans Declare They .. Will Stand Firm on Reservations on Article Ten.

Washington, Jan. 27.-It is more than likely that the peace treaty controversy will be fought out on the senate floor.

The bipartisan conference on the Lodge reservations has virtually collapsed. The end came when Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, the Republican leader, informed Democrats, led by Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, that there could be no change in the reservations respecting the Monroe doctrine and much discussed article 10. In the face of this the Democrats walked out for a private conference.

"It looks as if the jig's up," declared Senator McNary, Republican, of Oregon, a leader of the mild reservation group, and this seemed to hit the nail on the head, in the opinion of most senators.

The breakup, as viewed by the Democrats, was explained by Senator Hitchcock in the following statement: "When the conference assembled Senator Lodge advised the senators present that he had been called into a meeting by certain Republican senators and for that reason had not been able to attend the last conference, Friday. He regretted to say that he found it impossible to resume the conference for a compromise except upon the understanding that no change shall be made in the reservation on article 16 or on the Monroe doctrine. The Democratic members retired for a private conference. The conference up to the time its meetings were interrupted had tentatively agreed upon the preamble and all sections of the reservations except that

Lousiville, Ky., Jan. 27 .- Orders entered in the Juvenile Court yesterday exonerated both Dr. Christopher G. Schott and Mrs. William M. Gardner of having contributed intentionally to the alleged delinquency of Laurene Gardner, 13-year-old daughter of the latter. The child is not. and has not been a delinquent, the Court maintained.

The case decided also includes the dismissal of Laurene, who has been held as a ward by the Court on the ground that she was not in the hands of proper guardians.

The Gardner child was Dr. Schott's chief alibi witness at the physician's preliminary trial to answer charges made by the police that he was the slayer of his pretty 17-year-old office attendant, Miss Elizabeth Ford Griffith, found shot to death in his office Christmas Eve. Dr. Schott subsequently was exonorated after a grand jury investigation.

The order of the Court in the Gardner case today requires that Laurene emain away from the office of Dr. Schott, and that her association with him end, on the ground that she has been subject to great embarrassment and undesirable publicity in connection with the murder case. It is recommended that the child be sent to school or college if possible. The Court stipulated that Dr.

FIRE DESTROYS BUSINESS BLOCK IN COLUMBUS ENTAILING MILLION DOLLAR LOSS ON MONDAY

NEW LOW LEVELS IN ARE NOTED AGAIN

New York, Jan. 27.-Another crash of international rates caused British, French and other forms of foreign exchange to drop to new low levels of depreciation here. Bankers and other dealers in foreign bills expressed no surprise at the further demoralization, accepting the situation as an inevitable and logical outcome of conditions from which no immediate relief is promised. Offerings for account of American interests were said to comprise only a small part of the whole, most of the pressure being traceable to London. According to bankers' reports, French and Italian selling via London helped to congest the local market.

Demand sterling dropped to $3.5814, 11/2 cents under the previous lew record, or slightly more than 26 per cent under the par of $4.86%. Francs sagged to the equivalent of 8 cents, against the normal 191-3 cents, a depreciation of 58 per cent. Lire checks quoted at 14.60 represented a shrinkage of 70 per cent. The German mark was quoted at slightly above 1 cent, as against the pre-war rate of 231/4 cents. Austrian crowns, once of mediary between the soviet and the the same value as francs and lires, were almost out of sight at a fraction under one-third of 1 cent.

Washington, Jan. 27 .- By a vote of 9 to 5 the senate military committee approved provisions providing for compulsory military training for boys between 18 and 21 years, inclusive, and ordered a favorable report on the army reorganization bill.

The compulsory military training prevision, which fixes the training peried at four months, was opposed in the committee by Senators Lenroot, Wisconsin, and Capper, Kansas, Republicans, and Senators McKellar Tennessee, Sheppard of Texas and Kirby of Arkansas, Democrats: Senaters Wadsworth, New York; Warren, Wyoming; Sutherland, West Virginia; New, Indiana; Frelinghuysen, New Jersey; Knox, Pennsylvania, and Spencer, Missouri, Republicans, and Chamberlain, Oregen, and Thomas, Celerade, supported it. Senator Me-Kellar announced that he would submit a minority report, in which a number of the senators who opposed the plan are expected to concur.

As finally agreed upon, the bill is virtually the same as reported by the subcommittee, but is radically different from the reorganization bill submitted by the war department to congress. In addition to establishing compulsory military training, the bill povides for the establishment of one drmy, to be divided into a citizen army, composed of men who have received the compulsory training; a standing army, consisting of 280,000 enlisted men and 18,000 officers, and

Compulsory Training for Boys is Essential Part of Bill.

FAVORABLE REPORT

Training Period Fixed at Four Months for Youths Between 18 and 21.

Washington, Jan. 27 .- By a vote of 9 to 5 the senate military committee approved provisions providing for compulsory military training for boys between 18 and 21 years, inclusive, and ordered a favorable report on the army reorganization bill.

The compulsory military training prevision, which fixes the training peried at four months, was opposed in the committee by Senators Lenroot, Wisconsin, and Capper, Kansas, Republicans, and Senators McKellar Tennessee, Sheppard of Texas and Kirby of Arkansas, Democrats. Senaters Wadsworth, New York; Warren, Wyoming; Sutherland, West Virginia; New, Indiana; Frelinghuysen, New Jersey; Knox, Pennsylvania, and Spencer, Missouri, Republicans, and Chamberlain, Oregen, and Thomas, Colorado, supported it. Senator Me-Kellar announced that he would submit a minority report, in which a number of the senators who opposed the plan are expected to concur.

As finally agreed upon, the bill is virtually the same as reported by the subcommittee, but is radically different from the reorganization bill submitted by the war department to congress. In addition to establishing compulsory military training, the bill povides for the establishment of one army, to be divided into a citizen army, composed of men who have received the compulsory training; a standing army, consisting of 280,000 enlisted men and 18,000 officers, and a national guard. Specific provision is made in the bill that the citizen army can not be called to the colors except in case of a declaration of war. To accommodate the reserve force built up under the system of military training, prosulting from a defective furnace, vision is made in the bill for an annual reduction of 5 per cent in the enlisted strength of the regular army and 2 per cent in the number of enlisted officers for the first five years, This will mean, Chairman Wadsworth Hampered by frozen fire plugs, and explained, that at the end of five by 70,000 men and 1,800 commissioned establishment.

> The bill also would place all youths who have undergone the four months' military training on the reserve list to be subject to two weeks' training annually.

Montenegrina File Protest. Paris, Jan. 27 .- A strong note has been addressed to the peace conference by the Montenegriu government at Neuilly in connection with the discussion of the Adriatic question. Protest is made against the "manner in which Montenegro's sovereign rights have been trampled on," and it is declared that the supreme council has "deliberately, without consulting the Montenegrin population, taken decisions in flagrant contradiction to its previous decisions."

THE COMING SWISH OF WOMEN'S SKIRTS.

If you note the habit of the mere men during a Presidential struck the abitment, but managed to year of "keeping their ears to the ground," you may imagine that get her ashere. Is she yours? Is this they are listening as of yore for the distant thunder of the man- too late!" hood of the nation, as they move their million feet toward the polls. But you will be wrong. They are doing nothing of the sort. They are listening, with an eagerness to which the man- a couch and fell across it. There he ipulator of party cohorts is popularly supposed to be proof, for the lay, prone and apparently senseless. "Swish" of women's skirts!

The mere men are more or less labelled and catalogued. But this "woman constituency" is something new. Only a few more states are needed to ratify the woman-suffrage amendment to rescuer and stood palpitatingly gazing the constitution to turn a vast army of women voters loose on down at him. the polls next November; and the political calculators are quite aware that this new element in the problem may upset the firmest party traditions and discount the most experienced political prognostications.

The woman vote, provided all the legal restrictions are cut away in time, will be a very important factor next autumn. Already the expert judges of the party "racing stables" are watching the paces of their prospective "mounts" with a keen eye of to how they will "please the ladies." For example, both party "High Commands" are indulging in conjecture as to what would happen if that politically unattached but very speedy "colt" one Herbert Hoover, were to be put up by either of them and sent over the course to capture the plaudits of the tender-hearted sex who would be mightily attracted by the man who fed the babies of Belgium and is now keeping gaunt hunger from the homes of millions of helpless peasants in mid-Europe.

No one of intelligence or a fair mind has ever disputed her ability. Her very inexperience should help her by keeping her free from partisan entanglements and political servitudes. She ought, to begin with, to doom the personally unworthy candidate the cap that did not accord with his beyond recovery. She ought to carry the decent standards of the home into the "housekeeping" arrangements of the nation.

These are stern times for a womanly hand to be laid upon the helm of the nations. A year ago it looked as if we might be entering smoother seas. But the roseate hopes of that day have been pretty well eclipsed by the sordid eruption of all the old passions which for centuries have beclouded humanity's horizon and periodically plunged us into war.

Woman is on trial in this critical year as well as the Old Guard politician. She has fought her way into the limelight and it is now up to her to "make good," and we believe she will

THE CHINESE ALPHABET.

In one of her articles, Mrs. Brewster, the missionary to China spoke of the new Chinese alphabet, of thirty-nine simple Chinese characters, by means of which reading and writing of the language may be revolutionized. The government has adopted it. and is seeking to promote its use. It is known by the name of Chu Yin Tzu-Mu. Those who know the conservative character of the Chinese people are not rashly predicting that this alphabet will come into speedy use. If it does, however, as it may and as it should, it will unify the nation as nothing else ever has, making it possible for all the people to read their language and thus become, universally, acquainted with the life and aims of the republic, through a generally diffused common intelligence.

So difficult has been the task of learning to know the thousands of Chinese characters or ideographs that only comparatively few of the people have been among the readers and writers. Most of the people have been, necessarily, illiterate. This new scheme of using an alphabet, will make it possible for all the people to read the language, as it is possible for the people of our own country, with our twenty-six letters, to read our English lan-

The Chinese language has been almost like a nightmare, even to the most intelligent of their own and of other lands. It has seemed almost like a device of the evil one to prevent the people from having free access to the Bible, and other needed works. It now seems as if this difficulty is to be broken, and the truth permitted to spread all over the land and into the homes of all the people. This is most wonderful and another evidence that "the world do move.'

DOUBLE HERO

By GENEVIEVE ULMAR

(Copyright, 1920, Western Newspaper Union) With a shrill scream Mrs. Alice Drew ran to the open doorway of her little home. The echoing cry brought the widow's unmarried sister. Della Marvin, speedily to her side with the alarmed query :

"What is it?" "Tina!" gasped Mrs. Drew. "She is dying-dead!"

"She is neither," spoke a reassuring voice and then, peering past her sister. Della noted a young man. dripping and haggard, a dark crimson stain across his forehead, one arm apparently helpless. He bore in the other the idol of the household. Tina, with dark hair and closed eyes. She seemed lifeless.

"Give me the little one," she spoke to her sister. "You have been a nurse and must attend to her brave rescuer. Oh, Alice! he looks like one dead. Had we not better send for the doctor at ence?" But to this Alice dissented. She had known skilled service in a hospital and her expertness enabled her to correctly diagnose the case.

"You must help me get the young man into the spare bedroom, Della," she said. "I do not think he is seriously injured, but the cut on his head needs immediate attention."

Della put down Tipa and with her sister's aid removed the soggy coat and vest of their patient. There was conspicuousness about them and general appearance. Garment and headgear were of a loud plaid pattern, suggesting the overdressed man of style, sportily inclined. Mrs. Drew bathed the wound of the stranger.

"We must have our neighbor, Mr. Morse, get the young man to bed," said Mrs. Drew. "Ask him to step ever, will you, Della?" And that good old man was summoned, and Mrs. Drew expressed a sigh of satisfaction when at last the patient was resting comfortably, although he had not yet opened his eyes and ever and anon gave utterance to incoherent wanderings like a person in the delirium of

That evening a young man of the village, Varney Driscoll, called at the Drew home. Of late he had called regularly once a week and had been Della's escort to a number of town social functions. Della felt his com panionship uncongenial, but accepted his attentions, not wishing to offend him. On this particular occasion she excused herself through her sister, who briefly alluded to the adventure of little Tina and the fact that they wished to keep the house quiet for her brave rescuer. The medicine chest came into helpful play that night and by morning the patient seemed to have passed the crisis.

He gave his name as Wallace Barnes, but told little else. The next day he was weak and lethargic, and Mrs. Drew told him he had better remain quiet for a day or twe, to which instructions the presence of Della seemed to make him heed. It was the following day that Della went to the door to be confronted by Driscoll and the village marshal.

"You have a guest here we have come after," said the latter.

"Yes, the owner of those clothes I saw hanging on the line," supplemented Driscoll. "They gave me my cue. According to a circular offering a reward of one hundred dollars they belong to a man the police are looking for, wanted for embezzlement."

"Let us pass." ordered the marshal, as Della shrank back in bewilderment, and he forced his way past her. "Ronald Purcell, I arrest you in the name of the law!".

"But I don't happen to be Ronald Purcell," calmly announced the young to take the trouble.' Varney Driscoll sneaked away after one glance of disdain from Della, It told him that his mean, avaricious action had set a barrier between them he should never pass. Wallace Barnes remained in peace at the cottage and left it in love. Little Tina, whom he had saved from a watery grave, and the friend he had saved from the schemes of wicked plotters, were honored guests at his wedding and that of the happy Della.

Aiready the expert judges of the party "racing stables" are watching the paces of their prospective "mounts" with a keen eye of to how they will "please the ladies." For example, both party "High Commands" are indulging in conjecture as to what would happen if that politically unattached but very speedy "colt" one Herbert Hoover, were to be put up by either of them and sent over the course to capture the plaudits of the tender-hearted sex who would be mightily attracted by the man who fed the babies of Belgium and is now keeping gaunt hunger from the homes of millions of helpless peasants in mid-Europe.

THE CHINESE ALPHABET.

In one of her articles, Mrs. Brewster, the missionary to China spoke of the new Chinese alphabet, of thirty-nine simple Chinese characters, by means of which reading and writing of the language may be revolutionized. The government has adopted it, and is seeking to promote its use. It is known by the name of Chu Yin Tzu-Mu. Those who know the conservative character of the Chinese people are not rashly predicting that this alphabet will come into speedy use. If it does, however, as it may and as it should, it will unify the nation as nothing else ever has, making it possible for all the people to read their language and thus become, universally, acquainted with the life and aims of the republic, through a generally diffused common intelligence.

So difficult has been the task of learning to know the thousands of Chinese characters or ideographs that only comparatively few of the people have been among the readers and writers. Most of the people have been, necessarily, illiterate. This new scheme of using an alphabet, will make it possible for all the people to read the language, as it is possible for the people of our own country, with our twenty-six letters, to read our English lan-

"Give me the little one," she spoke to her sister. "You have been a nurse and must attend to her brave rescuer. Oh, Alice! he looks like one dead. Had we not better send for the doctor at ence?" But to this Alice dissented. She had known skilled service in a hospital and her expertness enabled her to correctly diagnose the case.

"You must help me get the young man into the spare bedroom, Della." she said. "I do not think he is seriously injured, but the cut on his head needs immediate attention."

Della put down Tina and with her sister's aid removed the soggy coat and vest of their patient. There was a conspicuousness about them and general appearance. Garment and headgear were of a loud plaid pattern, suggesting the overdressed man of style, sportily inclined. Mrs. Drew bathed the wound of the stranger.

That evening a young man of the village, Varney Driscoll, called at the Drew home. Of late he had called regularly once a week and had been Della's escort to a number of town social functions. Della felt his companionship uncongenial, but accepted his attentions, not wishing to offend him. On this particular occasion she excused herself through her sister, who briefly alluded to the adventure of little Tina and the fact that they wished to keep the house quiet for her brave rescuer. The medicine chest came into helpful play that night and by morning the patient seemed to have passed the crisis.

He gave his name as Wallace Barnes, but told little else. The next day he was weak and lethargic, and Mrs. Drew told him he had better remain quiet for a day or twe, to which instructions the presence of Della seemed to make him heed. It was the following day that Della went to the

DUTCH LANDMARKS

Amsterdam, Jan. 27 .- Holland is slowly but surely losing the one characteristic of its landscape, made famous in art and known to every ing windmills that for centuries have stood out all over the country's flat

These quaint structures gradually are giving way to highly practical but ugly steam and leectric plants, and, in the course of each eary, a number are destroyed by fire-presenting a spectacular blaze, with the big, burning wings wheeling around like fiery arms. These never are re constructed.

The existing type of Dutch wind-mill was invented about the year 1400. The great disadvantage of the windmill, of course, is its absolute dependence on weather conditions. For this reason they are being replaced, when possible, by modern machinery.

The Dutch windmill, however much it may look in pictures to be a toy, is far from that. It is a sturdy structure, as big as a good sized house, and the machinery inside is extremely powerful.

Naturally, a great many of them remain but the number becomes less year by year and, so far as can be ascertained, the erection of a new one seldom is undertaken.

A Stubborn Cough Loosens Right Up

Here is a home-made syrup which millions of people have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It is cheap and simple, but very prompt in action. Under its healing, soothing influence, chest soreness goes, phlegm loosens, breathing be-comes easier, tickling in throat steps and you get a good night's restful sleep. The usual throat and chest colds are conquered by it in 24 hours or less. Nothing better for bronchitis, hearseness, croup, throat tickle, bronchial asthma or winter coughs.

To make this splendid cough syrup, pour 2½ cunces of Pinex into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup and shake thoroughly. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way you get a full pint—a family supply—of much better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

############# Stubborn Cough Loosens Right Up

Here is a home-made syrup which mil-lions of people have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It is cheap and simple, but very prompt in action. Under its healing, soothing influence, chest soreness goes, phlegm loosens, breathing be-comes easier, tickling in throat steps and you get a good night's restful sleep. The usual throat and chest colds are conquered by it in 24 hours or less. Nothing better for bronchitis, hearseness, croup, throat tickle, bronchial asthma or winter coughs.

To make this splendid cough syrup, pour 2½ cunces of Pinex into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup and shake thoroughly. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or cora syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way you get a full pint—a family supply—of much better cough syrup than you could buy a full pint—a family supply—of much better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. tive food and a corrective medicine. It restores healthy, natural bowel action, doing away with all need of pills and physics. It promotes appetite and quickphysics. It promotes appetite and quickly puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food. As a builder of flesh and strength, Milks Emulsion is strongly recommended to those whom sickness has weakened, and is a powerful aid in resisting and repairing the effects of wasting diseases. Chronic stomach trouble and constipation are promptly relieved—usually in one day.

> > Their Appearance.

"It is remarkable," philosopessimistically said Old Codger, "that the man who does not know much of anything and knows that little all askew, usually assumes the tone and attitude of one who knows everything and is aware that when he departs this life wisdom will die with him. This appearance is most often found in horse doctors, grocery store sages and trifling sons-in-law, such as mine."-Country Gentlemen.

Rival.

It seems strange that this English word which means a competitor of some sort should have come from the Latin word "rivalis," pertaining to a stream. But we can easily imagine that the neighbors who lived along the river bank and used the same source for water would sometimes quarrel about their rights and perhaps become enemies.

Four Years, Firston Arms, Spread Itching Severe. Cuticura Heals.

"I suffered from a severe case of ersema. I first noticed a slight redness on my arms, and later it spread. The itching was so severe that I scratched, and could only sleep part of the night. The inflammation was so futense that the skin was almost purple. This lasted for nearly four years. I sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Dintment and after the third application the aching was less. I bought a cake of Cuticura Soep and a box of Ointment and at the end of a month I was healed." (Signed) Mrs. J. E. Ratcliffe, Caledonia, Minn., Ang. 29, 1919.

This Man was Weak, Nervous in Poor Health, but Regains Strength

Thousands of people feel draggy, nervous, weak and out-of-sorts this time of year and eat and sleep poornever feel like work and are about "all-in," just like Mr. Smith was who tells below in a few crisp words the quickest, best way to build yourself up strong, well and vigorous again, He. said.

"I was in a poor condition of health ever since I had the "Flu" last winter. I couldn't get to feeling right somehow. I didn't feel like work, didn't feel like sleep and didn't feel like much of anything and there was a sore tight sensation in my chest that bothered me. I had a little cough too at night so when I read where folks here in this city were using Earle's Hypo-Cod with great success for such troubles, I slipped down to the drug store and bought a couple of bottles. Since that time I've used four bottles of this medicine and I consider it the equal to any medicine made. That bad feeling in my chest is gone. The cough has vanished and my nerves are so good I sleep like a log. It certainly gave me a whale of an appetite too and I can eat most anything I feel like now," declared Mr.

Right after any spell of sickness a person should take a couple bottles of Earle's Hypo-Cod at least. It fortifies the system, strengthens the user quickly and wards off complications. It is actually dangerous to go out to work half sick. If in that condition go right down to the drug store for a couple of bottles of this ideal tonic.

Drummer Doing His Bit "I am a traveling salesman and have met others who, like myself, were suffering from indigestion stomach trouble and gastritis. Since taking 3 weekly doses of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy I am very much pleased with its results, so much so that I have induced others to take it and they, too were marvelously helped." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments including appendicitis. One dose will convince or mone refunded.
